Report of the Authorised Corporate Director (“ACD”)

(unaudited) for the period ended 15th May 2021

Thesis Unit Trust Management Limited, (the “ACD”) is pleased to present the ACD's interim report for the TM Stonehage Fleming Investments Funds (the “Company”) for the period ended 15th May 2021.

Investment Objective and Policy

The sub-funds of the Company, their respective names, investment objectives and policies, are as follows:

TM Stonehage Fleming AIM Fund

The principal investment objective of the sub-fund is to achieve long-term capital growth. To achieve this objective, the sub-fund aims to invest mainly in equities on the UK Alternative Investment Market (‘AIM’). This will be achieved by an actively managed diversified portfolio of shares spread across any sector of AIM. In addition, the sub-fund may on occasion invest in fully listed shares of companies with smaller market capitalisations.

TM Stonehage Fleming International Fund

The principal investment objective of the sub-fund is to achieve long-term capital growth. The sub-fund shall invest mainly in equity securities of companies listed on stock exchanges anywhere in the world. There will be no restrictions on the countries or industrial sectors invested in.

Equally, there will be no presumption or expectation that the sub-fund will maintain asset allocation across all countries, regions or industrial sectors on an ongoing basis. The sub-fund will be free to invest globally, but there may be a bias towards one or more countries, regions or industrial sectors to the exclusion of other countries, regions or industrial sectors. The sub-fund may also invest in the following types of assets located anywhere in the world; other transferable securities (including government and public securities, other debt instruments and exchange traded funds), cash and near cash, deposits, other regulated collective investment schemes and money market instruments. Derivative instruments may be used for efficient portfolio management purposes only.

TM Stonehage Fleming Opportunities Fund

The principal investment objective of the sub-fund is to achieve long-term capital growth. To achieve this objective, the sub-fund aims to invest in equities falling mainly under the following categories: smaller companies which offer long-term growth; companies which offer recovery prospects; and companies in sectors which are perceived to be unduly depressed. There is no geographical restriction but in practice the sub-fund will be mainly invested in the UK.

TM Stonehage Fleming UK Balanced Income Fund

The principal investment objective of the sub-fund is to provide income and growth. The sub-fund will be a diversified portfolio invested predominantly in UK equities typically from the FTSE 350 and in a range of fixed interest stocks such as government and public securities, debentures and corporate bonds. The sub-fund will not be restricted in the choice of fixed interest stocks in terms of duration or rating. If considered appropriate, the sub-fund may also invest in other markets as specified in the Prospectus and in other assets including other transferable securities, cash and near cash, deposits and money market instruments. Derivative instruments may be used to manage exposure to risk, reduce cost, or for the generation of income.

Performance Comparator

TM Stonehage Fleming AIM Fund

The sub-fund uses the Numis Alternative Markets Index benchmark for performance comparison purposes only and the benchmark is not target benchmark and the sub-fund is not constrained by it.

The Index has been selected as a benchmark for performance because the constituents are representative of the areas in which the sub-fund itself is likely to invest, and it is therefore an appropriate comparator for the sub-fund's performance.

TM Stonehage Fleming International Fund

The sub-fund uses the MSCI All Country World Net Total Return Index benchmark for performance comparison purposes only and the benchmark is not a target benchmark and the sub-fund is not constrained by it.

The Index has been selected as a benchmark for performance because the constituents are representative of the areas in which the sub-fund itself is likely to invest, and it is therefore an appropriate comparator for the sub-fund's performance.

TM Stonehage Fleming Opportunities Fund

The sub-fund uses the Numis Smaller Companies Index ex-Investment Companies Total Return Index benchmark for performance comparison purposes only and the benchmark is not a target benchmark and the sub-fund is not constrained by it.

The Index has been selected as a benchmark for performance because the constituents are representative of the areas in which the sub-fund itself is likely to invest, and it is therefore an appropriate comparator for the sub-fund’s performance.

TM Stonehage Fleming UK Balanced Income Fund

Whilst the sub-fund is being typically invested in FTSE 350 securities it is also managed to achieve a yield in excess of the yield of the MSCI UK All Cap Net Total Return Index. On this basis the sub-fund uses the MSCI UK All Cap Net Total Return Index benchmark for performance comparison purposes only and the benchmark is not a target benchmark and the sub-fund is not constrained by it.

The Index has been selected as a benchmark for performance because the constituents are representative of the areas in which the sub-fund itself is likely to invest, and it is therefore an appropriate comparator for the sub-fund’s performance.

Investment Report – TM Stonehage Fleming AIM Fund

Economic and Background performance

During the six months to 15th May 2021 the TM Stonehage Fleming Aim Fund “B” Class saw a rise of 40.0% net of fees which compared to the benchmark increase of 23.5% in the Numis Alternative Markets (incl. Investment Companies) Index in total return terms.

A notable event was the ratification by the UK Parliament of the EU-UK Trade and Cooperation Agreement on 24th December 2020 which allowed the UK to exit the European Union in an orderly manner. Although some features are outstanding, the agreement was greeted with relief and allowed companies to plan for the future with some degree of certainty. Most of the companies we follow had contingency arrangements in place to cover a different outcome and would be pleased that the uncertainty has been lifted.

Unsurprisingly, the main factor to occupy investors’ minds was the continuing effect of the COVID-19 pandemic. Various strains of the virus appeared over the period meaning that lock down measures were kept in place but slightly relaxed. The positive news was the emergence of various vaccines and the impressive roll out of the programme to inoculate the majority of the population. It is likely that the restrictions will be lifted as the year progresses. It is clear that some companies in areas such as hospitality and travel have suffered severely while others have had to adapt to the changed conditions.

Under these circumstances it is encouraging that the stock market has performed well and that the sub-fund has outperformed. Strong performance in the period from a number of contributing sectors including – Industrial (Arena Events Group, Northbridge Industrial Services and Xpediator), Legal (Gateley Holdings, Ince Group and RBG Holdings) and Information Tech (Netcall, Eagle Eye Solutions Group and Zoo Digital Group). We avoided the alternative energy sector which has performed strongly against the benchmark as it is unclear which companies will succeed and/or which will require further funding to establish a successful service or product.

Purchases and Sales

Over the period we made a number of changes. A feature of the period was the large number of companies coming to AIM to raise money. We have been introduced to a significant number of IPOs and acquired holdings in Access Intelligence, ActiveOps plc, Kistos, Mirriad Advertising, Supreme and Tinybuild. We participated in a secondary fund raise by Trackwise Designs and new holdings included Avingtrans, Blue Prism plc, Hargreaves Services, Breedon Group and Purplebricks group. Elsewhere we sold our holdings in Assetco, Hurricane Energy and Scapa Group and made a number of adjustments to other holdings in the portfolio.

Market Outlook

The stock market recovered and the TM Stonehage Fleming AIM Fund outperformed. Many companies that we hold have been swift to adapt to the changed conditions. At the beginning of the pandemic many companies were uncertain of their future trading and the initial “lock down” came as a major shock. In consequence, a large number of companies deferred or passed their dividends which put pressure on share prices. Understandably most companies withdrew guidance as to profitability but more recently confidence is beginning to return and trading statements are turning positive. Small companies in a number of sectors can achieve significant growth as global economies recover but investors have to be highly selective. As stock pickers we welcomed the chance to take advantage of the improving conditions. At the end of the day, most company management have been proactive to make their companies more efficient and to cut costs. Where gearing has become uncomfortably high or growth opportunities exist, a number of companies have raised capital on the stock market. There has also been an increase in new companies seeking a listing which also displays confidence.

The situation moving forward has improved with individuals getting more accustomed to remote working and the vaccine programme giving some “light at the end of the tunnel”. Interest rates are likely to remain low for the foreseeable future but inflation seems to be increasing and the strength in the Pound versus US dollar need to be taken into account. Our interest in the healthcare, technology and oil & gas sectors of the portfolio should help drive performance. Elsewhere there may well be renewed takeover activity and a strong recovery of corporate profits as global economies recover. With BREXIT completed UK companies are well placed to seek advantage of overseas trading opportunities.

Looking forward, we will obtain a well spread number of more than seventy holdings in the portfolio. As stock pickers we will continue to seek undervalued situations and growth opportunities. A priority remains to avoid areas of high risk and are wary about making investments in areas which may never recover or where the risk/reward is too great. Balance sheet strength is particularly important as is the quality of company management. We will run our winners and take profits when potential has been achieved. Our overall conclusion is that the portfolio is well positioned to achieve further growth for investors.

Investment Report – TM Stonehage Fleming International Fund

Economic Background and Performance

During the six months period under review, the TM Stonehage Fleming International Fund 'B' Class saw a rise of 3.3% net of fees. This compared to a benchmark rise of 8.6% for the MSCI AC World Index USD net return in Sterling terms.

The performance of global equity markets has been strong during this six-month period driven mainly by the US stock markets, but with other developed markets such as the UK and Europe catching up towards the end of the period. Stock markets have rallied consistently since November 2020 on the back of continued loose monetary and fiscal policy together with optimism about the strength of global economic growth this year.

In the US, corporate results announced in March, for the fiscal year 2020, led to a raft of upgrades either by the companies themselves or by covering analysts. The Q1 2021 results season followed a similar path and the resultant upgrades to forecasts have enabled markets to keep trending higher. However, beneath the surface there has been a clear change in leadership. The Technology sector has struggled as many of the companies were perceived to be COVID-19 beneficiaries and are thus not expected to enjoy such high levels of profits growth going forward. In general, quality growth companies have performed less well as valuations had become toppy especially against a backdrop of rising bond yields. The best performing sectors have been Energy and Financials as investors pivoted towards deep cyclical, value sectors and reflation plays. The sub-fund had reduced its weighting in technology but the remaining sector exposure contributed 1% relative underperformance over this time period. Similarly, the sub-fund has been tactically building up its Financials weighting but this has been undertaken sensitively and only where market opportunities have arisen. Within the Energy sector, the sub-fund has no exposure to traditional fossil fuel companies as these do not meet the sub-fund's investment criteria in terms of returns on capital and ESG factors, and this has had an impact on the short-term performance. The underweights in Energy and Financials account for half of the sub-fund underperformance during this six-month timeframe. Conversely, the sub-fund's consumer exposure has done well as have the Industrial and Materials holdings in recent months.

Asian emerging markets have lagged those of the developed World. Whilst the original impact of the pandemic was less severe, the region has witnessed several deadly waves of renewed infections especially in India and some SE Asian countries. This led to renewed lockdowns and the countries are now finally experiencing a delayed recovery. The sub-fund holds many Asian stocks and this has had a detrimental effect on short-term performance but the view is that the economic recovery is delayed not lost and Asia is still a region worthy of long-term investment.

Major purchases and sales

The outlook for the US economy has improved and it is expected to generate strong GDP growth of 6-7% this year. The vaccination program has accelerated from a slow start under the new Biden Presidency and the economic re-opening is well underway. In light of this, the sub-fund has increased its weighting to the US market and now has a benchmark weighting to the region. The sub-fund added to Financials through the purchase of CME Group, the interest rate derivatives exchange business, and Fifth Third Bancorp, the 10th largest regional bank in the US. Industrial sector exposure was increased through the purchase of Air Products & Chemicals, a leader of innovation within Green Hydrogen supply, and Kansas City Southern, the US-to-Mexico railroad company. The latter has since been subject to two competing bids, with Canadian National coming out on top, and the sub-fund has consequently taken profits on part of the holding. The sub-fund took advantage of the increased market volatility during the period to initiate positions at opportunistic prices in attractive quality growth stocks PayPal, Thermo Fisher Scientific and Recruit. The holdings in Amdocs, Verisk Analytics and Kerry Group have been replaced with higher conviction ideas. Most of the ETF holdings have been sold as the revised sub-fund strategy is to focus on direct equity holdings.

The exposure to China, via HK stocks, has been streamlined through the sale of Alibaba Group and the reduction in the Tencent position size. Continued government policy changes aimed at curbing the influence of some of the mega-cap e-commerce stocks necessitate a more nuanced view on valuation in the space. Following strong performance, profits have been realised by trimming the positions in ANTA Sports Product, Geely Automobile and Sunny Optical Technology.

Market outlook

Over the past six months, markets have responded to optimism on vaccination rates leading to a distinct revival in deep cyclical stocks as the global re-opening theme gains traction. Crude oil has been surprisingly strong reaching the $70 level. Industrial metals and other commodities have all enjoyed a strong rebound in anticipation of strong global economic growth and actual supply shortages for some products. Commodity prices became elevated and have corrected in recent weeks. However, the key market concern is now the trend and absolute level of inflation in many countries. In the US, the Federal Reserve (Fed) believes that the current high levels of CPI inflation are transitory. This remains to be proven, but bond markets have been very steady of late since yields rose dramatically in April. There is a two-way pull in financial markets between vaccination rate optimism and concerns about new COVID-19 variants and how these may derail the economic recovery. For these reasons, it is prudent to invest in a mix of cyclically sensitive stocks and quality growth companies in order to benefit from the prevailing trends. The sub-fund aims to have a balanced split between quality and value stocks, which can provide long-term capital gains over the cycle.

Investment Report – TM Stonehage Fleming Opportunities Fund

Economic and Background performance

During the six months to 15th May 2021 the TM Stonehage Fleming Opportunities Fund “B” Class saw a rise of 33.9% net of fees which compared to the benchmark increase of 26.8% in the Numis Smaller Companies (excl-Investment Companies) Index in total return terms.

A notable event was the ratification by the UK Parliament of the EU-UK Trade and Cooperation Agreement on 24th December 2020 which allowed the UK to exit the European Union in an orderly manner. Although some features are outstanding, the agreement was greeted with relief and allowed companies to plan for the future with some degree of certainty. It is likely that the restrictions will be lifted as the year progresses. It is clear that some companies in areas such as hospitality and travel have suffered severely while others have had to adapt to the changed conditions. Under these circumstances it is encouraging that the stock market has performed well and that the sub-fund has outperformed.

Strong performance in the period from a number of contributing sectors including - Communication services (including ITV, STV Group and M&C Saatchi), Industrials (Clipper Logistics and Senior) and Information Tech (Eagle Eye Solutions Group and Bango). The portfolio is underweight in Consumer Discretionary which has rebounded strongly as some COVID-19 restrictions were lifted and furlough incentives allowed spending in these areas. We remained cautious on further recovery in these areas.

Purchases and Sales

Over the period we have made a number of changes. In the larger company recovery area we disposed of our holdings in AVIVA and Vodafone Group to acquire interests in BP, Lloyds Banking Group and Direct Line Insurance Group. Elsewhere, we sold our interests in Hurricane Energy, Keystone Law Group, Medusa Mining, Motorpoint Group, and Scapa Group. Reinvestment included new holdings in Beximco Pharmaceuticals, Chemring, Gateley Holdings, Grainger, Hunting and Kistos. Additions were made to a number of other holdings.

Market Outlook

The stock market recovered well and has consolidated at the higher level. In the larger company area, over the last year we had been able to take advantage of the technical situation where shares in a number of companies had suffered a large and undeserved fall. At the beginning of the pandemic many companies were uncertain of their future trading and the initial “lock down” came as a major shock. In consequence, a large number of companies deferred or passed their dividends which put pressure on share prices. Those investors and funds where income was the main priority became sellers. These income stocks were shunned by growth investors leaving recovery funds to take up the slack. Understandably there was little buying interest until the stock market looked more settled. Also, some of these companies would find it difficult to recover and investors had to be highly selective. As stock pickers we welcomed the chance to take advantage of these conditions. At the end of the day, most company management have been proactive to make their companies more efficient and to cut costs. Where gearing has become uncomfortably high or growth opportunities exist, a number of companies have raised capital on the stock market. There has also been a noticeable increase in new companies seeking a listing.

Investment Report – TM Stonehage Fleming UK Balanced Income Fund

Economic Background and Performance

From 16th November 2020 to the sub-fund's closure on 20th April 2021, the TM Stonehage Fleming UK Balanced Income Fund 'B' Class returned 12.1% net of fees, whilst the MSCI UK All Cap Index NR USD returned 14.5%¹.

During this period, risk assets were buoyed by progressing vaccine rollouts, reopening optimism, additional fiscal stimulus in the US and continuation of accommodative policy. Reopening optimism fuelled reflation expectations and a pickup in bond yields, which triggered a cyclical rally and notable style rotation towards value. This resulted in the US surrendering its leadership to the UK over this period, due to the latter's value tilt and an eleventh-hour Brexit deal helping to lessen the region's unloved status. The UK equity income sector also benefitted from dividends showing signs of revival.

The portfolio performed well outperformed its benchmark. Materials exposure outperformed as gold ended its losing streak and boosted gold miners in the portfolio. Consumer Discretionary exposure also performed well amid strong performance from the homebuilders and significant outperformance by Halfords Group, which continued to benefit from heightened interest in cycling and staycations. After being heavily out of favour, Signature Aviation was the top performer and surged on an agreed takeover. Healthcare exposure to Big Pharma struggled amid weakness in defensives.

Major Purchases and Sales

There were no major purchases or sales during the period, other than for the liquidation and closure of the sub-fund.

Remuneration Disclosures (unaudited)

The provisions of the UCITS V Directive took effect on 18th March 2016. That legislation requires the Thesis Unit Trust Management Limited (the “ACD”), to establish and maintain remuneration policies for its staff which are consistent with and promote sound and effective risk management and do not encourage risk taking that is inconsistent with the risk profile and the instrument of incorporation of the Company nor impair compliance with the ACD’s duty to act in the best interest of the Company.

The ACD is part of a larger group within which remuneration policies are the responsibility of a Remuneration Committee comprised entirely of non-executive directors. Arrangements for variable remuneration within the group are calculated primarily by reference to the performance of each individual and the profitability of the relevant business unit. Sub-Fund Information

The Comparative Tables on pages 20 to 22 give the performance of each active share class in the sub-fund.

The 'Return after charges' disclosed in the Comparative Tables is calculated as the return after operating charges per share divided by the opening net asset value per share. It differs from the sub-fund's performance disclosed in the ACD's report, which is calculated based on the period-end published price.

Portfolio transaction costs are incurred when investments are bought or sold by a sub-fund in order to achieve the investment objective. These transaction costs affect an investor in different ways depending on whether they are joining, leaving or continuing with their investment in the sub-fund.

Direct transaction costs include broker commission and taxes. Broker commission includes the fee paid to a broker to execute the trades.

In addition, there are indirect portfolio transaction costs arising from the 'dealing spread' – the difference between the buying and selling prices of underlying investments in the portfolio. Unlike shares whereby broker commissions and stamp duty are paid by the sub-fund on each transaction, other types of investments (such as bonds, money instruments, derivatives, collective investment schemes) do not have separately identifiable transaction costs; these costs form part of the dealing spread. Dealing spreads vary considerably depending on the transaction value and market sentiment.

Lower Risk

Typically lower rewards

Higher Risk

Typically higher rewards

The RRI table demonstrates where a sub-fund ranks in terms of risk and reward. The higher the risk the greater the potential reward but the greater the risk of losing money. It is based on past data, may change over time and may not be a reliable indication of the risk profile of the sub-fund. The shaded area on the table above shows the sub-fund's ranking on the risk and reward indicator.

Sub-Fund Information

The Comparative Tables on pages 31 to 34 give the performance of each active share class in the sub-fund.

The 'Return after charges' disclosed in the Comparative Tables is calculated as the return after operating charges per share divided by the opening net asset value per share. It differs from the sub-fund's performance disclosed in the ACD's report, which is calculated based on the period-end published price.

Portfolio transaction costs are incurred when investments are bought or sold by a sub-fund in order to achieve the investment objective. These transaction costs affect an investor in different ways depending on whether they are joining, leaving or continuing with their investment in the sub-fund.

Direct transaction costs include broker commission and taxes. Broker commission includes the fee paid to a broker to execute the trades.

In addition, there are indirect portfolio transaction costs arising from the 'dealing spread' – the difference between the buying and selling prices of underlying investments in the portfolio. Unlike shares whereby broker commissions and stamp duty are paid by the sub-fund on each transaction, other types of investments (such as bonds, money instruments, derivatives, collective investment schemes) do not have separately identifiable transaction costs; these costs form part of the dealing spread. Dealing spreads vary considerably depending on the transaction value and market sentiment.

A negative transactions costs figure might arise where there is a timing difference between inflows and the settlement of the resultant purchases.

³ Operating charges, otherwise known as the OCF is the ratio of the sub-fund's total disclosable costs (excluding overdraft interest) to the average net assets of the sub-fund. The OCF is intended to provide a reliable figure which gives the most accurate measure of what it costs to invest in a sub-fund and is calculated based on the last period's figures.

Risk and Reward Indicator (“RRI”)

Lower Risk

Typically lower rewards

Higher Risk

Typically higher rewards

The RRI table demonstrates where a sub-fund ranks in terms of risk and reward. The higher the risk the greater the potential reward but the greater the risk of losing money. It is based on past data, may change over time and may not be a reliable indication of the risk profile of the sub-fund. The shaded area on the table above shows the sub-fund's ranking on the risk and reward indicator.

Sub-Fund Information

The Comparative Tables on pages 45 to 48 give the performance of each active share class in the sub-fund.

The 'Return after charges' disclosed in the Comparative Tables is calculated as the return after operating charges per share divided by the opening net asset value per share. It differs from the sub-fund's performance disclosed in the ACD's report, which is calculated based on the period-end published price.

Portfolio transaction costs are incurred when investments are bought or sold by a sub-fund in order to achieve the investment objective. These transaction costs affect an investor in different ways depending on whether they are joining, leaving or continuing with their investment in the sub-fund.

Direct transaction costs include broker commission and taxes. Broker commission includes the fee paid to a broker to execute the trades.

In addition, there are indirect portfolio transaction costs arising from the 'dealing spread' – the difference between the buying and selling prices of underlying investments in the portfolio. Unlike shares whereby broker commissions and stamp duty are paid by the sub-fund on each transaction, other types of investments (such as bonds, money instruments, derivatives, collective investment schemes) do not have separately identifiable transaction costs; these costs form part of the dealing spread. Dealing spreads vary considerably depending on the transaction value and market sentiment.

The RRI table demonstrates where a sub-fund ranks in terms of risk and reward. The higher the risk the greater the potential reward but the greater the risk of losing money. It is based on past data, may change over time and may not be a reliable indication of the risk profile of the sub-fund. The shaded area on the table above shows the sub-fund's ranking on the risk and reward indicator.

Sub-Fund Information

The Comparative Tables on pages 56 and 57 give the performance of each active share class in the sub-fund.

The 'Return after charges' disclosed in the Comparative Tables is calculated as the return after operating charges per share divided by the opening net asset value per share. It differs from the sub-fund's performance disclosed in the ACD's report, which is calculated based on the period-end published price.

Portfolio transaction costs are incurred when investments are bought or sold by a sub-fund in order to achieve the investment objective. These transaction costs affect an investor in different ways depending on whether they are joining, leaving or continuing with their investment in the sub-fund.

Direct transaction costs include broker commission and taxes. Broker commission includes the fee paid to a broker to execute the trades.

In addition, there are indirect portfolio transaction costs arising from the 'dealing spread' – the difference between the buying and selling prices of underlying investments in the portfolio. Unlike shares whereby broker commissions and stamp duty are paid by the sub-fund on each transaction, other types of investments (such as bonds, money instruments, derivatives, collective investment schemes) do not have separately identifiable transaction costs; these costs form part of the dealing spread. Dealing spreads vary considerably depending on the transaction value and market sentiment.

² The sub-fund was liquidated on 20th April 2021, therefore, there are no shares in issue. Share class performance provided is as at 20th April 2021 being the last net asset value per share date before shares were reduced to zero.

³ Direct transaction costs are stated after deducting the proportion of the amounts collected from dilution adjustments or dilution levies that relate to direct transaction costs. A negative transactions costs figure might arise where there is a timing difference between inflows and the settlement of the resultant purchases.

⁴ Operating charges, otherwise known as the OCF is the ratio of the sub-fund's total disclosable costs (excluding overdraft interest) to the average net assets of the sub-fund. The OCF is intended to provide a reliable figure which gives the most accurate measure of what it costs to invest in a sub-fund and is calculated based on the last period's figures.
